Sir Ralph Richardson said…

> Acting is merely the art of keeping a large group of people from coughing.

Groucho Marx said…

I was married by a judge. I should have asked for a jury.

John Adams said…

“The Second Day of July 1776, will be the most memorable Epocha, in the History of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated, by succeeding Generations, as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated, as the Day of Deliverance by solemn Acts of Devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with Pomp and Parade, with Shews, Games, Sports, Guns, Bells, Bonfires and Illuminations from one End of this Continent to the other from this Time forward forever more.”– John Adams (October 30, 1735 – July 4, 1826) written in a letter to his wife Abigail on July 3, 1776.

Glen Davis said…

The most clear and present danger that is known to man at this time is the Karaoke machine. It is sinister in its design. For if there is any contrivance which might subtly be used to convince a man to capitulate that there are circumstances where he might desire to give up his rights under the First Amendment, I have yet to make it’s discovery.

Benjamin Franklin said

If you would not be forgotten,
As soon as you are dead and rotten,
Either write things worthy reading,
Or do things worth the writing

Stephen King said…

“Fiction is the truth inside the lie.” –Stephen King

Lawrence said…

Back when I was young and bold,
I spent my time chasing rainbows for gold,
Because of all the strife,
I never really had a life,
And now it’s a pity I’m too old.

E.B. White said…

> “Advice to young writers who want to get ahead without annoying delays: don’t write about Man, write about ‘a’ man.” —E.B. White

Thomas Jefferson said…

> *Books constitute capital. A library book lasts as long as a house, for hundreds of years. It is not, then, an article of mere consumption but fairly of capital, and often in the case of professional men, setting out in life, it is their only capital.—Thomas Jefferson

Writing a book.

> Writing a book is an adventure. To begin with, it is a toy and an amusement; then it becomes a mistress, and then it becomes a master, and then a tyrant. The last phase is that just as you are about to be reconciled to your servitude, you kill the monster, and fling him out to the public. —Winston Churchill
