Bibliography

Bibliography

The Congressional Record, especially for the past ten years, was the single outstanding source of information. Numerous Committee Reports, both majority and minority, were also extensively read and used. No source could be more authoritative nor more worthy of respect.

Numerous other sources quoted briefly were properly credited in the manuscript itself. Special acknowledgments are due to the following:

Angell—The Story of Money

Anonymous—Mirrors of Wall Street

Armstrong—The Crime of 1920

Benvenisti—The, Iniquitous Contract

Binderup—Uncle Sam’s Hospital Chart

Brandeis—Other People’s Money

Chase—Where Is the Money Coming From

Coogan—Money Creators

Corti—Rise of the House of Rothschild

Corti—Reign of the House of Rothschild

Coughlin—Money, Questions and Answers

Cummings-McFarland—Federal Justice

Denny—America Conquers Britain

Dwinell—Story of Our Money

Elsom—Lightning Over the Treasury Building

Fabius—Rothschild Money Trust

Fisher—100 % Money

Frazer and Morse—Tomorrow’s Money

Garrett—O.P.M. Other People’s Money

Gesell—New Economic Order

Hawtrey—Currency and Credit

Hitler—My New Order

Hollis—The Breakdown of Money

Hollis—The Two Nations

Kiser—Hidden Power of Money

Kitson—a Modern Pilgrim’s Progress

Knuth—Empire of the City

League of Nations—International Monetary Experience

Lemke—You and Your Money

Lindbergh—Your Country at War

Lundberg—America’s 60 Families

McKenna—Port War Banking Policies

Meyers—History of Great American Fortunes

Millis—Road to War

Moley—After Seven Years

Nathan—Nazi War Finance and Banking

Peterson—Propaganda for War

Sieg—A. B. C. of Wall Street

Rice—Money and Men

Snow—America Which Way

Soddy—Wealth, Virtual Wealth and Debt

Soddy—The Role of Money

Strover—Monetary Progress

Talbott—The Conspirators

Tilden—World in Debt

Vickers—Economic Tribulation

Woodward—A New American History

Withers—The Meaning of Money